Please amend the specification as indicated by the replacement paragraphs below:

Paragraph 0081

[0081] Continuing to refer to FIG. 9A, auction interface 900 may also allow a user to sign up for auctioning functionality using button 910. This may be used, for example, where a user has not previously signed up online and provided user preferences as detailed above with reference to FIG. 8. Regardless of whether the user signs up online or using button 910, features window 920 may be used to provide the user with options relating to the auctioning process. For example, in the embodiment of FIG. 9A, features window 920 is usable to find auctions in particular categories. However, it should equally be appreciated that other auction features may similarly be accessible using features window 920 ~~[DETAILS OF OTHER FEATURES?]~~.
